Nelles Buchanam sent greetings to all members through Harry Mills and Gordon Kennie.

Stan Smith had a letter accepted for publication in the Toronto Globe and Mail issue of August 6, 1986. It concerned the recent Royal Wedding of Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson.

With the baseball season coming to a close managers are looking for ways to strengthen their clubs for the stretch drive. The following story is told of Charlie Grimm, one-time first baseman, hall-of-famer, and later manager of the Chicago Cubs.

Wim or lose (and when he was manager it was mostly lose), Jolly Cholly always kept his sense of humor. One time, when the Cubs were digging deep in the barrel for new talent, one of Grimm's scouts excitedly phoned him from somewhere in the sticks.

"Charlie," he shouted, "I've landed the greatest young pitcher in the land. He struck out every man who came to bat - twenty-seven in a row. Nobody even got a foul until two were out in the ninth. The pitcher is right here with me. What shall I do?"

Back came Grimm's voice. "Sign up the guy who got the foul. We're looking for hitters."

Let's go to bat for Marty this coming year.
